Any surfaces that are to be painted should be appropriately prepared. Old paint should be removed using the gentlest means possible. Where needed, historic brick should be repointed with a mortar that closely matches the historic mortar in color, composition, and joint profile.

A new door and storefront windows should be installed as the current ones are not historically appropriate for the building.

HISTORIC PHOTO

These drawings are based on the assumption that after removing the storefront covering, the historic arch shown above still remains, as well as the brick piers on either end. As it would be the only historic storefront opening left, it should be preserved. If the arch does not remain, please contact our office so that we can provide you with revised recommendations.
